Ed. Manuel Neukirchner

- Prototype of a new museum generation
- 10 years of exceptional permanent and special exhibitions

The German Football Museum in Dortmund offers a unique exhibition experience of over 140 years of German football history and a special brand of national memorial culture. With its ultra-modern forms of presentation, it forms a new medium that builds a bridge between people, football, society and contemporary history.

Manuel Neukirchner, born in 1967, has been heading up the museum since 2015 as the Director and Chairman of the Board of the DFB-Stiftung Deutsches Fußballmuseum GmbH. The former print and radio journalist studied general literary science, history and German philology and is the author of numerous book publications.
